SUBJECT: OVERVIEW OF ILLEGAL VENDOR PROGRAM

This memo provides an overview of the illegal vendor program as conducted by the Vehicle Inspection Program within Environmental Health (EH), in response to requests from several Board offices.

GENERAL OVERVIEW

In addition to conducting over 13,800 routine and complaint inspections of permitted vehicles during the 2006 calendar year, the Vehicle Inspection Program (VIP) participated in 216 multi-agency task force events (sweeps) to address illegal street vending throughout Los Angeles County. The sweeps resulted in 2,413 illegal vendor inspections, or 15 percent of the total inspections of the VIP (16,213). These illegal vendor inspections target vendors who prepare and/or sell food (ranging from bags of oranges at street intersections to full food preparation at sidewalks or parking lots). Illegal vending has been both a challenge for, and a success of, the VIP. This success can be attributed to full staff participation in routine and night/weekend assignments. The challenge is balancing routine work with the demands associated with enforcement activities regarding illegal vending.

TYPES OF SWEEPS

The VIP conducts two types of sweep operations, which vary in the number of EH staff involved. One type involves a full team of inspectors and the other type is a one/two-man team.

The full team is made up of six to eight inspectors and one or two supervisors, who conduct the inspections, impound all equipment and load unopened prepackaged impounded food for donation to the Los Angeles Mission, and bag the rest of the food for later disposal. The full team uses County vehicles (e.g. stake bed truck for impounded equipment, and pick-up trucks for impounded/condemned food). At the end of the sweep, the team will dispose of the food which cannot be donated and any other trash, donate the unopened prepackaged food to the mission, and store the equipment in the designated impound area. The operational cost of this type of operation is approximately $3,566.00 - $4,576.00 for 6 - 8 hours, if done after hours or on weekends, using overtime. The operational cost, if done during regular work time is approximately $2,829.00 - $3,772.00 for 6 - 8 hours.

Some activities besides the actual sweeps or inspections of illegal food vendors have costs attributable to the enforcement process. These activities include office hearings, court case preparation, court case filing, court appearance, cleaning of the impound facility, picking up and returning carts, picking up carts from the temporary impound facilities, task force meetings, referrals to other agencies, food salvage operations (trips to the food bank), vehicle maintenance, outreach activities, and office time for completion of all associated paperwork and documentation. An additional cost of approximately $2,124.00 is attributable to each sweep for pre- and post-sweep activities.

The actual number of vendors that are inspected in a block of time will vary from sweep to sweep. A vendor selling only prepackaged food from a grocery cart will take less time to inspect compared to a vendor cooking on several large carts that need to be impounded, and using hundreds of pounds of food which must be condemned and/or impounded. A second variable is whether and to what extent the vendors are organized. Vendors, often in cellular communication with each other, act as lookouts for Public Health vehicles, and arrange equipment and food storage in a fashion that facilitates quick concealment and/or removal. On streets or areas where vending is occurring, particularly when concentrated, once the first vendor is approached, the remaining vendors are often alerted and quickly flee the area. Finally, the distance between locations may vary greatly, thus increasing travel time, particularly during high traffic hours or areas.

The second type of sweep is made up of 1-2 EH inspectors. The remainder of the staff needed for these sweeps is provided by a city coordinating agency. During a weekday sweep, one inspector is involved in a vendor sweep because daylight hours provide added security. The weekend/night sweeps require a minimum of two inspectors as more vendors are encountered during these hours. The inspectors will conduct the inspections, and issue a condemnation/impoundment directive. The coordinating/participating agencies will provide:

1. Vehicles to impound the equipment and food
2. A sanitation truck to dispose of all the condemned food and equipment
3. A vehicle to transport the condemned unopened prepackaged food to the mission

The coordinating agency is also responsible for providing a temporary storage location for the impounded equipment, until VIP staff are able to pick up the impounded equipment, within one to two weeks.

The operational cost to EH of this type of sweep is approximately $504.00 per inspector for overtime (not including benefits or indirect cost) and $471.00 per inspector for regular hours (including benefits and indirect costs). The additional non-operational post-sweep costs are estimated to be $2,124. Utilizing one/two-man teams enables the program to schedule more sweeps per month, with more frequent sweeps in each area, but these sweeps are heavily reliant on viable participation and in-kind resource commitment from coordinating/participating agencies. The number of vendors inspected through these sweeps also varies, dependent on the type of operation and location. During the past year, approximately 50 out of the 216 sweeps were comprised of one or two inspectors.

OTHER ENFORCEMENT ACTIVITIES

The sweeps described above are performed by the VIP. In addition, staff from the regular food facility district offices perform some activities related to illegal vending. For the period of January 2006 to January 2007, the district offices responded to 782 complaints, and devoted 1,319 hours during their regular work days and 462 overtime hours (after hours and on weekends) to the illegal street vending tasks.

District staff typically respond in two person teams for after hours response; a single inspector for regular work days. However, the ability to confiscate illegal equipment and condemnation of food is limited without access to impound facilities and heavy duty trucks. District personnel sometimes participate in sweeps involving local agencies that supply temporary impound and disposal facilities to allow for full enforcement services.

PROBLEMS ENCOUNTERED DURING THE SWEEPS

The success of a sweep depends on the element of surprise. Once one location is inspected, the vendors are aware of our presence, often notifying other vendors present who subsequently leave the area. When staff actually find a vendor, impound the food and equipment, violators often immediately replace the food and equipment within hours, and return to vending activities. Scheduling more sweeps may not be any more effective because the vendors are mobile and will move to another location. It is too profitable for them to cease their operation.

Very often, vendors will use shopping carts to sell their food since there is no cost for them to use them, or lose them. The cost incurred by the vendor via enforcement is only the food preparation equipment and food that is impounded or condemned. The program is unable to store the number of shopping carts that we inspect on a routine basis and it is not cost effective to use inspectors on County time to return shopping carts to the supermarkets.

SCHEDULING OF SWEEPS

The scheduling of sweeps originates from complaints made by the public and requests from local and county agencies. These requests are processed and filed by geographical area. Complaints are tracked and sweeps are scheduled in groups with local law enforcement on a rotating basis. Law enforcement is always included on sweeps for safety and security of the inspectors.

The necessary involvement of law enforcement means that it is most practical to use local law enforcement boundaries, rather than other boundaries, such as Council districts, for sweep activities. Sweeps limited to smaller geographical areas are generally not an effective use of time, not productive in relation to the staff needed to work the area and may require additional coordination/addition of agency participants whose boundaries may not correlate to the designated work area.

FUNDING

Sweeps are generally funded from the Environmental Health budget, with revenue derived from Public Health Permit/License fees. Other funding includes allocated funds of one million dollars over three years from First District Supervisor Molina to Environmental Health and the Sheriff to be spent for illegal food vending inspections in the unincorporated areas of the District. Currently, EH conducts an average of eight night/weekend sweeps per month in the unincorporated areas within District 1, using the District 1 funding .

Two night/weekend sweeps per month, funded out of the Environmental Health budget, are conducted in other Supervisorial Districts, including Los Angeles and other cities, and other unincorporated areas. Sweeps conducted during normal working hours are scheduled twice a week throughout all areas of Los Angeles County, including sweeps with the Los Angeles Unified School District Police.

Additionally, several sweeps have been funded by private entities for specific events throughout the County. These include the University of Southern California (USC) ($7,300) and the LA Fashion District ($11,390). The charges are based on the compensation rate per hour ($67.00) and the number of hours requested. Security arrangements vary depending on the client. USC uses its Campus Police. LA Fashion District uses the Central Division of LAPD.

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

Conducting more sweeps throughout the county, based on the current workload, is not simply a matter of authorizing additional full-time staff for the VIP or authorizing more overtime hours. The program will need more vehicles to expand. VIP currently has one vehicle. VIP also utilizes vehicles as available, from the Environmental Health motor pool assigned to other EH programs. The current impound room is too small to handle an increase in the number of sweeps. Equipment must be held for thirty days, unless it is abandoned. Additional impound space in several locations in the County is needed. Environmental Health is exploring potential warehouse sites, including existing County space.

RECOMMENDATIONS

In addition to additional funding for staff resources, coupled with additional vehicles and impoundment facilities, we recommend the following efforts to improve efforts against illegal food vending:

1. Coordination with city vending and business license ordinances [Note: this section has not yet been reviewed by County Counsel, which may suggest some other options].

Cities can improve the coordination of their vending and business license ordinances with our enforcement of the health and safety codes.

If a city does not allow vending on public streets (e.g. LA City), it is essential that multiple city code enforcement departments become empowered to enforce the no vending laws throughout the city even when the product in question is food. Thus, if a city does not allow vending (of any kind) on public streets, the code enforcement officer from Building and Safety, Public Works, Street Use and/or Regional Planning etc, should cite the food vendor for illegal vending, even if the vendor has a valid Public Health permit.

If a city allows vending on public streets, the city should incorporate into its ordinances language that requires the vendor to have a current local City business license and a current Public Health Permit (PHP). Further, it should be stipulated that the vendor is required to maintain both verifications on-site (on his/her person) at all times of operation. If a vendor were required to provide proof that they have both a current business license and a current Health Permit and either of these required verifications were lacking, several enforcement agencies would have jurisdiction over situation and be able to shut down the illegal vending operation.

In either case, cities could enhance local ordinances by including a provision which places liability on private property owners and business owners who allow illegal vending on their property.

2. Development of a public education and public health awareness campaign

A public education/awareness campaign would educate the public in general and specific target groups in particular, of the critical health risks associated with illegal vending. Targeted educational efforts would be directed at school age children and their parents, and geographical communities where illegal vending is prevalent.

This goal could be addressed through Public Service Announcements, aggressive outreach via local newspapers, radio, billboards, bus/MTA advertisements, community workers/health educators and community based organizations that outreach to large audiences. Such outreach efforts would require additional funding to implement.

We have already implemented some educational efforts targeting school-age children and their parents, with some success. We have worked with schools where school-age children encounter vendors around schools and on the streets within neighborhoods.

3. Improve coordination with law enforcement for increased citations, arrests and prosecutions

Very few of the illegal vending sweeps result in actual citations, arrests or prosecutions. Most simply result in the confiscation of food and equipment. Difficulties with citations or arrests include adequate identification and the time necessary for law enforcement to effect prosecution. EH should convene a meeting with the local law enforcement agencies, including the city and District Attorney's offices to discuss ways of enhancing enforcement of existing codes, so violators would be arrested, prosecuted and sentenced accordingly.
